1. Scope

This document summarises subway ridership for 30 days, 1 to 30 September 2026.

It covers lines 1, 2, 3 and 7.

The data has 4,079 rows, one per line, station and day. It has 128 distinct station names and 136 line-and-station pairs, because a station served by more than one line appears once under each line.

Boardings and alightings are the counts in the file (seoul_subway_2026-09.csv).

2. Totals by line

Across all four lines there were 83,584,333 boardings and 83,508,679 alightings in the month.

The table gives the totals for each line.

| Line | Boardings | Alightings |
|---|---|---|
| 1호선 | 8,321,795 | 8,134,134 |
| 2호선 | 41,527,060 | 42,098,204 |
| 3호선 | 16,110,645 | 15,882,510 |

4. Weekday and weekend averages

Average total boardings per day were 3,045,814.32 on the 22 weekdays and 2,072,052.25 on the 8 weekend days.

Public holidays in the month are counted as weekdays.

| Measure | Value |
|---|---|
| Weekdays (days) | 22 |
| Weekday average boardings per day | 3,045,814.32 |
| Weekend days | 8 |
| Weekend average boardings per day | 2,072,052.25 |

5. Busiest and quietest day

The busiest day by total boardings was Friday, September 18, 2026 with 3,426,814.

The quietest day was Friday, September 25, 2026 with 1,127,485.

| Measure | Date | Boardings |
|---|---|---|
| Busiest | Friday, September 18, 2026 | 3,426,814 |
| Quietest | Friday, September 25, 2026 | 1,127,485 |

6. Method

Boardings and alightings are summed over every row of the file.

Totals by line add all rows of that line. Station totals add boardings for the same station name across lines.

A day is a weekday from Monday to Friday and a weekend day on Saturday or Sunday. The daily average is the sum of the daily total boardings divided by the number of days in the group.

The busiest and quietest day compare each day's total boardings across all four lines.

Averages are shown with two decimals.
